

Christopher,

I want you to approve a team-building this weekend for my department. Indeed:
- It will teach the group cohesion and uniqueness. According to a psychological report from Harvard, happiness is great for health. Also, the productivity of the company will increase.

If you respond to this email with your approval, I'll get the process started.

Victor